IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS
SUMMIT COUNTY, OHIO
SUMMIT COUNTY CIVIL DIVISION
CLERK OF COURTS

ELLORA'S CAVE PUBLISHING, INC.,

Case No.: CV-2014-09-4421

Plaintiffs,

JUDGE GALLAGHER

vs.

JOURNAL ENTRY

DEAR AUTHOR MEDIA NETWORK, LLC,

Defendants.

This Cause was set for a Temporary Restraining Order hearing on September 30, 2014. After informal discussion in chambers and without convening a hearing, this Court ordered the parties' counsel to draft a temporary resolution to be in effect until a full hearing on the issues is convened and the Court subsequently makes a determination on the merits. The parties' counsel submitted their temporary resolution to this Court and this Court hereby accepts their proposal, Ordering, Adjudging and Decreeing that:

1. Plaintiffs filed for a Temporary Restraining Order on September 26, 2014, seeking to have the article that is the subject of this lawsuit removed from the Internet.
2. There will be full airing of the issues at a preliminary injunction hearing starting at 9 a.m. on Monday, October 27, 2014. The status quo shall be maintained pending the outcome of the hearing on October 27.

3. In the interim, neither the parties nor anyone under their direct control shall post on the Internet any comments specifically and directly related to the factual allegations that form the basis of Ellora Cave's defamation complaint; further, they shall not comment online, directly or indirectly, on the allegations that form the basis of the defamation complaint. Nothing herein shall prohibit Plaintiffs from responding to defamatory posts or re-posts made by third parties related to the issues raised in this litigation.

4. Except as provided for herein, neither party is prevented from or restricted in blogging or otherwise commenting – on the Internet or otherwise – about any other matter. Defendants may solicit witnesses – online and otherwise – who may aid in their defense of the underlying allegations.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
